

7th 28 We hear from Paris, that the King has taken a surprising turn; and seems at present to find his greatest pleasure in politics: He has quitted the bosom of Madame Barre for the cabinet; and, feeble as he is, never fails of assisting at all the councils.—Some say that this is in consequence of the present disposition of the three powers, who are now about to make a division of the kingdom of Poland; and that, if possible, he is endeavouring to engage the Kings of Great-Britain and Spain, to join him, and oppose the usurpers. A messenger is said to be arrived at the French Ambassador's in George-street, from Paris, on the above important business. Should Great-Britain and Spain, acquiesce in Louis's scheme, which is not improbable, it is very likely we shall see Europe in arms in less than three months.

Feb. 18. A correspondent has sent us the following marvellous paragraph: "A ship was lately driven ashore by a storm in the Ganges; however, after it grew calm, the sailors attempted to save the goods and unladen it; for this purpose several were sent into the hold, but none ever returned. Alarmed at the strange disappearance of these men, at length they let down a ladder, and then discovered a monstrous crocodile that had crept in through a hole in the bottom, waiting for fresh prey; which, with some difficulty, they dispatched.

Feb. 23. A Correspondent informs us, that Sir Francis Bernard, Mr. Secretary Knott, Mr. Commissioner Robinson, and some other honourable men, have formed an Anti American club, under the patronage of Lord Hillsborough, from which the public are to have frequent inflammatory paragraphs, such as "it is reported that a serious affair has happened between the inhabitants of Boston, and the military; that the people of Rhode Island are in actual rebellion; that six regiments are ordered immediately to America; that Governor Hutchinson is besieged in his palace, &c. &c."—for what?

We hear that the Earl of Sandwich has caused an action to be brought against the printer of the London Evening Post, of the 2d of February in order to vindicate his honour against the infamous falsehood contained in a letter in that paper.

An observer of the times takes notice, that the new establishment of useless pensions and salaries lately granted to Hutchinson and Bernard's people of Boston, (which money, in a national view had better have been thrown into the sea) would have been amply sufficient to have answered the reasonable prayer of the petitioning Captains of the royal navy, and would have made that brave, suffering corps of officers comfortable and happy.—Old England! thou hast seen thy best days; thy sons of war are now neglected!

The utmost secrecy is observed in the delivery of all the letters from New England on government account, and by order of the Plantation Board. Four different packets by the way of Holland, have been received from Philadelphia and Rhode Island, in the space of ten days.

A committee, we hear, is very soon to be appointed, to inquire into the conduct of two American Governors, in consequence of the disturbances which have fallen out among the colonies very lately.

Lately died, near Cork, in Ireland, James McDonald; he was 117 years and two months old, and of uncommon stature, being seven feet six inches high. When in health, he could eat four pounds of solid meat at a meal, and drink in proportion of strong liquor, without being intoxicated; His limbs were larger than his height required; and his hands and fingers seemed of that prodigious size that a lady's bracelet might have served him for a ring. He was formerly shewn for profit; but that way of life obliged him to be much confined; and his health requiring a good deal of exercise, he took to the less profitable employment of a soldier, and served as a grenadier till after the rebellion.

Feb. 25. When the last advices left the town of Boston, circular letters had been dispatched to all the other American colonies, to give them the earliest notice of some recent transactions in that country.

Notwithstanding three federal councils have been held on American affairs within this week, no resolutions are yet formed. The members seem divided in their opinions, and indeed the majority are in a dilemma how to act.

Among the Heathens, it was a custom in storms, tempests, and other calamities, to offer up a venemous creature of some kind or other, to appease the Gods, who might thereupon restore to the people tranquility and happiness. A speculative correspondent observing a black cloud rising in North America, the almost certain indication of an approaching storm, thinks it would be no bad policy in government (in order to calm and quiet the injured and unhappy Americans) to cause Lord Hillsborough and Sir Francis Bernard to be executed shivering, and turned loose on that continent; where our fellow subjects of that country might do themselves justice.—Boston, or rather ther at present, Rhode Island, might be the properest place to put them on shore: And this would be an act of much more humanity and justice than that projected by Sharp and Hillsborough for the poor innocent Caribs of St. Vincent.

March 3. We hear that all the Welch Counties intend sending remonstrances up to the throne, on account that the Prince of Wales is not permitted to receive the President and Stewards of the Hon. Society of Ancient Britons, according to annual custom. There are Stuarts in the world that ought to be banished the kingdom as well as the court.

March 4. The real reason assigned for his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales not seeing his mountainous subjects, is literally this.—The Bishop of Chester, who is entrusted with his education, intimated, that such an annual intercourse with the Welch gentry, might hurt him in his further progress in the English language, by corrupting his accent.

An expression of the B—p of O—g's, when Jonas, the light of hand man, was lately diverting the royal children, is talked of with much pleasantry at St. James's. Jonas, it seems, had exhibited many dangerous feats; with which the children were highly delighted; at last the B—p bursting into a loud laugh, exclaimed, "Why, Jonas, I fancy you would conjure people's heads away, and if you will only take off my brother G—g's, who stands greatly in my light, I shall be highly obliged to you."

March 4. Extract of a letter from the Hague says; within a few months, we expect the war on the continent will in all likelihood be general. The French and Spanish courts having openly declared in favour of the Porte; and the courts of Berlin and Vienna, that of the Czarina; the court of Saxony are as yet divided which part to take; and the Swiss Cantons have let out all their troops; their High Mightinesses have resolved after the example of their Ally, the British Court, to preserve a neutrality if possible.

March 5. A noble Lord high in the esteem of the people for his good sense and probity, the other day said, "that in the history of this country, from the conquest to the present day, there is not to be given a stronger instance of the success and real duplicity, meanness, and abject pliancy both in and out of p—t, than that of the present Lord B—p, who with very moderate dipper dapper abilities, and only his single vote in the house) hath for many years found means, not only of holding himself one of the best and most lucrative places in the state, but also to get one brother made a Bishop, another brother a Judge; a third a regiment and an English government, a fourth brother's Colonel of marines and a Commodore in the navy, with several other good things. And besides thus nobly providing for his brethren, many valuable things; hath he been able to procure for his more distant relations, among whom it seems may be numbered the honourable and innocent Sir Francis Bernard, who from being a little scribbling proctor at Lincoln, was (by the same interest) at once made chief Governor of Boston! and that some time before, Lord Hillsborough had so great a regard for him as to cause him first to be created an English Baronet with a pension, and afterwards to be appointed a commissioner of Excise with a thousand a year in Ireland."

March 6. They write from Pontypool, in Monmouthshire, that an iron mine had been lately discovered in that neighbourhood, one piece of which, of one pound of ore yielded thirteen ounces of solid iron.

March 8. The Bishop of Osnaburg is said to have very quick parts. When the Prince of Wales the last week seemed greatly mortified at not being permitted to receive the Gentlemen of the principality of Wales, the Bishop broke out, "Why, brother, I believe I shall see my German sheep before you will your Welch goats."

Extract of a letter from Vienna, Feb. 24. "At Vienna, a fine camp is now forming of 50,000 men, and new fortifications are building to render that important fortress (if possible) entirely impregnable. Most of the troops (except those immediately necessary for the maintenance of garrisons) are ordered out of the hereditary dominions into the three frontier provinces of Slavonia, Servia, and Croatia, where they are to form several camps."

Extract of a letter from Berlin, March 2. "His Prussian Majesty has deprived the gentry, and other inhabitants of the territory of Wamberg, in Polish Prussia, of the right which they had (while under the jurisdiction of the King of Poland) of being governed by their own Bishop, who is a Prince of the Empire, and has taken them into his Majesty's own protection."

March 10. A correspondent observes, that three governments have fallen since Lord Dartmouth came, into which these governments have been had to Hay, and that the country has been well governed.

March 11. They write from that it is very evident from the disposition of the French Court, that they are planning some schemes to be played off against the Sardinian king; but that monarch, as it concerns of their hostile intentions, seems to be taking all imaginable precautions for his security.

March 13. We hear from Lisbon, that upon advice received that the Portuguese had broken a new treaty of alliance with the Courts of Great Britain and Peterborough, an army of 10,500 Spaniards immediately arrived on the frontiers of that kingdom.

A private letter, received late on Tuesday night, from Spain, says, that the Spaniards are preparing a fleet of 500 men of war of the line, at Ferrol, which are to cruise in the Mediterranean and Archipelago.

It was on Thursday night confidently asserted at the west end of the town, that his Majesty has declared, that if the major part of England follow the steps of the city of London in being troubled with addresses, petitions, and remonstrances, he will dissolve the parliament.

It is reported at the west end of the town, that the Duke of Gloucester and Cumberland, are to have 20,000l. a year, settled on each of them this session of Parliament, with a reserve in proportion to any issue they may have by their Dutchesses.

The poor Highlanders that were shipwrecked some time ago, on the coast of Ireland, are through the charitable contributions of the citizens of Dublin, and the amount of a benefit play at Smock Alley, enabled to proceed on their Voyage to Charles Town.

March 15. They write from Turin, that the new King of Sardinia, who is about forty years of age, since his succession has discovered a very great genius; and that he seems to apply himself with great industry to the business of his cabinet, and confers with his ministers daily, both in public and private.

Extract of a letter from Paris, March 5. "It is reported, that the Prince of Piedmont, eldest son of the King of Sardinia will espouse our Monarch's eldest Daughter; and that the said marriage will be celebrated at the same time with that of the Count D'Artois."

Letters from Cornwall, bring advice of there being, through the late disturbances in that county, above a hundred thousand pounds worth of tin in the streets of Penryn, and other places, which the proprietors are not able to raise 500l. upon.

A Correspondent at the Court end of the town informs us, that our Ministry are at present in the most perplexing situation imaginable, occasioned by the last dispatches from the continent. The Prussian Monarch (whose ruling passion is to make himself a MARITIME POWER) now meditates the conquest of Swedish Pomerania, and is on the point of marching a powerful army into that country. The French King, bound by the most solemn treaties to guarantee and defend all his Swedish Majesty's dominions, has demanded a passage through Hanover for an army, which is ready to march to the assistance of his ally the King of Sweden. If this passage is granted to the French troops, Frederick threatens to take possession of the electorate of Hanover; and thus, between the Black Eagle of Prussia, and the Gallic Cock, our Ministry may be fairly said to be "between Hawk and Buzzard."

We hear from Rome, that a passage has been demanded through the Italian dominions for a body of French troops, who are going to penetrate into Germany, by way of Bergams.

They write from Cracow, that all the Imperial troops, lately quartered in that city, have suddenly left it by order from the Emperor, and have crossed the Oder at Leipfic, in their way to meet the grand army near Breslaw.

Advices are received from Marseilles, that 7 sail of the line of battle ships are fitting out at that port, all of which it is said are intended for the Levant as soon as ready.

They advise from Amsterdam, that an embargo is laid on all Dutch vessels a Harlem, Harlingen, and Helvoetsluys, in order to man a large fleet of 17 sail, now fitting out at the Dutch port.

It is somewhat singular, that when Lord Townshend gave a grand Masquerade Ball at the Castle in Dublin, on St. Patrick's Day, just four years ago, Lord Bellamont appeared in the character of Merrill.

Extract of a letter from the Hague, March 12.

"According to the last letters from Warsaw, the King of Prussia has delivered to that Court, by Mr. Benoit, his Minister there, a declaration which is extremely strong, and in which his Prussian Majesty says, among other things,—"That he has the Dist, which is going to meet, with approbation and ratify all that has passed with respect to Poland; but in case it should happen otherwise, his Prussian Majesty will not only retract the promise he has made, with respect to that Kingdom, but will make the Poles tremble that he is not to be offended with impunity; and that he can do without either their approbation or ratification, so that they will pay dear for their ill timed obsequy &c."

March 22. Five hundred poor farmers belonging to the North of Ireland, are preparing to embark for America.

March 25. Letters from Vienna say, "The Jews will be sufferers by the division of Poland, and undergo a diminution with the country. Many arts were cultivated, and most of the trade carried on by these people, who were become exceedingly numerous; but they are all ordered out of the country, and the King of Prussia has actually sent a number of physicians, surgeons, and apothecaries, into Polish Prussia, to succeed the Jews who followed their professions."

Dublin, March 26. His Excellency the Lord Lieut. has been pleased to comply with the request of the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs, and has varied the orders to the several guards of this metropolis, and directed that they should obey the magistrates, when called forth by them for the preservation of the peace, without making any inquiries into the particular occasion of their being required to attend the magistrates.

WILLIAMSBURG, April 29.

By the Nelly Frigate, Captain Greg, arrived in thirty one days from London, in Potowmack, there is advice that the great suit between the late Lord Baltimore's Sisters and his natural Son, about the Proprietaryship of Maryland, has been determined in favour of the latter; and that Major Mollison, who came in the same vessel, had brought over a commission for continuing Governor Eden in his Government. We farther learn, that there had been no late failures among the Tobacco Merchants.

BOSTON, April 20.

We hear from Portsmouth, that last Friday se'nnight, a melancholy affair happened at the Globe tavern, on the plains of that town, viz. Mr. John King, who kept the said tavern, being in his garden at work; Mr. Joseph Moulton, jun. a Deputy Sheriff, attempted to take him for a sum of about 40 dollars. King observing Moulton coming towards him, and suspecting his design, ran to a tree where he had left his gun: When Moulton came near him he told him to keep at a distance for he would not be taken by him: However when he had got within about 10 feet of King, he fired a full charge of goods shot in his face. Moulton was taken up by a person who saw King shoot. It was thought he would soon have expired, but he was alive last Friday, tho' there was little hope of him. The Doctors think both his eyes are lost, and part of his nose, with 5 or 6 teeth are shot away, and the whole of his face and head in a terrible condition. About a dozen shot have been extracted from his head already.—By this unhappy affair two families are in deplorable circumstances.—A reward of twenty dollars is offered by the High Sheriff for apprehending the said King, who immediately absconded.

April 26. We hear from Stockbridge that three Indians were lately burnt to death there, occasioned by one who was drunk, and set the house on fire.—Himself, a woman and child, were the persons destroyed.

Rayham, March 6. This day departed this life, Lydia Britten, who had completed 94 years. The longevity of this family is not a little remarkable. There were seven that lived to the following ages; one 94—another 93—another 89—another 88—another 75—another 70—another 66. They were children of one John Leonard, of this place, whose name was as noted for their fertility as for their longevity. His descendants amounting in the whole to almost a thousand souls.

NEWPORT, (Rhode Island), May 16. Last Friday, the lower house of Assembly of this colony unanimously came into the measures proposed by the patriotic House of Burgesses of Virginia; and supported the Speaker, the Hon. Steven Hopkins, Esq. Mr. Moses Brown, John Cole, William Bradford, Henry Marchant, and Henry Ward, Esquires, a committee, to obtain the most early and authentic intelligence of all such acts and resolutions of the British Parliament, and measures of the Ministry, as may relate to, or affect the British colonies in America; and to maintain a correspondence and communication with the other colonies, respecting those important considerations. They are also directed to request of his Honour the Governor, a copy of the commission to the Judges of the Court of Inquiry, laid to be held in this Colony, and of all such other papers as were laid before the said court, as he can conveniently give; and to lay an account of the proceedings from time to time, before the Assembly.

The speaker is requested to transmit an account of these proceedings to the speaker of the House of Burgesses in Virginia, and to the speakers of all the other Houses of Representatives in North America.

NEW LONDON, May 16. Birmingham, (in England), May 16. YOU being a gentleman of note in

Colony of Connecticut, tho' a stranger to, and far distant from me; yet, as a friend to mankind you will doubtless answer my request, which is, that you would publish in your Gazette, that in the year 1770, one Ebenezer Fairman, deceased, who was a bachelor of an advanced age, and of a very large interest; and being the only male of the line of Fairmans in England; and that before his death he had knowledge, by a gentleman from Connecticut, that there was one Jonathan Fairman there, whom he supposed was descended from his great uncle John, who he understood went into America about one hundred years ago; and that the said Ebenezer has made me his executor, and among his donations has bequeathed to the said Jonathan the sum of Eight Hundred Pounds, money of Great Britain, if he or his heirs shall appear or make it evident that he is descended from the said John.

I am, &c.

JOHN HOWLAND.
To Mr. TIMOTHY GREEN,
Printer, New London.
April 30. At the Superior Court held at Norwich, in and for the county of New-London, in March last, one Robert Burch, alias Benjamin Burch, alias Benjamin Robert Burch, was convicted of the crime of Polygamy, and sentenced to be whipped 20 stripes, to be branded with the letter A in the forehead, and to wear a halter about his Neck during his continuance in this colony. The above sentence was put in Execution on Thursday last night; when he was re-committed to gaol for cost.

To Mr. GREEN, at New-London.
SIR,
Please to publish in your Gazette, the following intelligence, and you will oblige many of your friends here and elsewhere.

WYOMING, (now Wilkharre) on the Sufquehanna River, April 13, 1773.
THROUGH divine goodness, the sickness that has been here is much abated; the people in general are in health, and high spirits; settlers and others are flocking in here daily, almost from every quarter. The Indians are very friendly: the Pennamites cease to trouble us, excepting some attempts to steal our horses, to carry to the Mississippi for their own use, or to gratify our good friends going thither, who have been so generous as to give us the name of freebooters: But, mutatis mutandis, de seipso fabula narratur.

NEW-YORK, May 20.
Thursday last Capt. Reynolds arrived here from Surinam, in 26 Days, who informs us, That the disturbance with the Negroes at that Settlement was settled by a smart Engagement, in which many of them were killed and some prisoners: The 10th Instant, Capt. Reynolds spoke with a Sloop from Cape Nicholas for Boston; the next Day, in Lat. 39, Lon. 73, with a Sloop from North-Carolina, Boston also.

The Sloop New-York Packet, Captain Palmer, from Georgia, this Port, run ashore last Week in a thick Fog, about 20 Miles to the Southward of Sandy-Hook, and 'tis feared the Cargo will be lost, but most of the Cargo is saved. (This is the vessel seen by Capt. Reynolds at mentioned in our last.)

The Schooner Constant Friend, John Riddle, late Master, arrived here from Bermuda, last Wednesday, the 4th Instant, in Lat. 34, 50, Lon. 70, 15, by the giving of the Mainfall, Capt. Riddle was knocked overboard, and notwithstanding he had immediate Assistance, and never went under the Water, having got hold of a Hen-Coop that was thrown to him, he was just expiring before he could be taken up by three of the Crew, who at the Risk of their Lives, went in the Boat to his Relief; which Boat was afterwards hoisted to Pieces along side, and it was with great Difficulty they got the dead Body on board the Schooner, which was the next Day interred in a watery Grave.

The Ship Mary, Capt. Hervey, arrived here last Friday, in 7 Weeks from Bristol: The 6th Instant, in Lat. 39, 18, Lon. 68, spoke with a Ship from this Port for Cork, but could not learn the Captain's Name. (We have Reason to think the above Ship is the Hope, Captain Stewart, from this Port for Dublin.)

The Brig Franklin, Capt. Lyell, is arrived at Amboy, in 38 Days from Barbados: On his Passage, in Lat. 26, 52, Lon. 51, fell in with the Wreck of a new Ship, loaded with Lumber, with all her Sails and Rigging gone, Decks blown up; had a Man Head, and the following Words wrote on the Companion: "We are all well, and gone to Liverpool in a brig."

On Thursday last, after a short Illness, occasioned by a Bilious Disorder, died, much lamented, Mr. JAMES YOMAN, of this City, Watchmaker: About four Years ago he came from London, well recommended to several Gentlemen of Distinction, in this Place; which Recommendation his Conduct fully justified, being such as caused him in his Life to be loved and esteemed, and lamented in his Death, by a numerous Acquaintance, who, on Friday attended the interment of his Remains, in Trinity Church Yard.

Extract of a Letter from Kingston, in Jamaica, April 1.

"The 16th of last month was hanged at Spanish Town, James Hutchinson, the most detestable and abandoned villain, that ever disgraced the human species: He was a native of North-Britain, and had a Pen in Pedro-Valley, in St. Ann's Parish: When any of his neighbours' cattle strayed on his lands, he always secured them as his own, and by that means had acquired a little fortune; and it is imagined that many people had been murdered by him for demanding their property; and this conjecture seems but too well founded, as you will observe in the sequel:

"Mr. Callendar (whose land joined Hutchinson's) had lost a Jack-Ass, and seeing him in this wretch's pasture, went to him, and requested that the ass might be turned in the highway, when he would take care he should trespass upon him no more. Hutchinson told him, this request should be immediately complied with, and when Callendar had turned his back, and was going away, the villain took up a gun and killed him on the spot. A man then lying sick at Hutchinson's, hearing the report of a gun, crept out of his bed, and asking what firing that was, and said, I believe you have shot the man that I heard inquiring about my ass. The villain replied, go instantly to your bed, or I'll serve you the same sauce. The sick man, however, in the course of the evening, found means to get privately out of the house, and immediately lodged a complaint, upon which Hutchinson was apprehended, and by the information of one of the negroes, the place was discovered where he had conveyed the head of Callendar, and where near twenty other human skulls were found; the body was thrown in a cockle (as it is here called) a place deemed inaccessible, being down a perpendicular rock, that had been split by an earthquake, or so formed by nature, the bottom of which could not be discerned, hanging upon the point of a rock which jetted out, the unfortunate man's body was seen, and well known by his clothes; by some daring contrivance, a person went down a considerable length, and discovered a great number of human bones, but no skulls; so that it is to be supposed, this merciless villain had always taken off the heads of those he had murdered, in the same manner he did with poor Callendar. At his trial, he had several of our most eminent counsel to plead for him; and during the whole time, from his commitment to his execution, he behaved with the greatest insolence; he employed the whole day before he died in writing, and told the people he had made his own epitaph, and left 100l. to have it engraved on his tomb stone. It is long, and ill wrote, but he concludes it in these words, speaking of the court and jury.

"Their sentence, pride, and malice, I defy,
"Despite their power, and like a Roman die."

LEWIS HUTCHINSON.
Hanged at Spanish Town,
the 10th of May, 1773.

Aged 40 Years.

"Thus was the world rid of this detestable and most execrable monster."

Extract from a Dublin Paper of the 12th of May.

"Duels upon Duels seem to prevail throughout his Majesty's Dominions: There have been two in particular within this Week, in this Kingdom: One of them between Colonel Jephson and the eldest Son of Sir John Colthurst, Esq; in which the latter received a Ball in his Thigh, which was soon extracted, and he is in a fair way of Recovery. Mr. Colthurst is young enough to be the Colonel's Son. The other was between Beauchamp Bagnell, Esq; a Gentleman of 14,000l. Sterling per Annum, and Thomas Kelly, Esq; (and not Captain Bagnell, as in another Paper, which we have authority to contradict; nor did the Quarrel arise in the manner or Place stated, as at the House of a Gentleman of Rank, in Palace Row.) In this Duel, which was fought in his Majesty's Park the Phoenix, both Parties were wounded. Mr. Bagnell received a Ball in his right Arm, which was immediately extracted, though 'tis thought he will lose the Use of it. Mr. Kelly received a Flesh Wound in his Side, from which not the least Danger is apprehended."

AN ADDRESS

TO THE YOUTH OF AMERICA.

Rejoice, O young Man! in thy Youth; and let thy Heart cheer thee in the Days of thy Youth; and walk in the Ways of thy Heart; and in the Sight of thine Eyes. But know thou, that for all this, Thine Eyes will bring thee into Judgment.

It would be esteemed a Favour, if those Gentlemen and Ladies, in New-York, to whom it may not be inconvenient, who became Subscribers for these Publications, would please to send for them at Mr. Holt's Printing-Office.—Subscribers, at a Distance, will have their Pamphlets sent to them by the first Opportunities.

Lucille Midway,
Woman of Fashion,
The much celebrated Letters of the Right Hon. Lady Mary Wortley Montague, written during her Travels in Europe, Asia, and Africa.

These Novels are the most curious and agreeably entertaining that ever appeared in the World, in any Language; in every Circumstance that can recommend a Work of this Kind, they excel all that have gone before, or probably may ever succeed them; and we have Reason to believe, that this is the first time the only Person in the World capable of writing them, as in a Situation to admit of it. The Style is easy and elegant, the Sentiment just, delicate and important, the Temper cheerful and benevolent. The Descriptions, natural, lively, beautiful and grand; the Events remarkable, strange, and surprising. None but a Lady, in her high Station, could have been admitted to the Scenes she describes, and none but a Person of her Character, and extraordinary Abilities, could have observed or described them.

WHEN passive on that posthumous I gaze,
 Where my four brothers round about me stand,
 And four fair sisters smile with graces bland,
 The goodly monument of happier days;
 And think, how soon insatiate death, who preys
 On all, has cropp'd the rest with rubric'd hand,
 While only I survive of all that band,
 Which once chaf'd did to my father raise;
 It seems, that like a column left alone,
 The tottering remnant of some splendid fane,
 Escap'd from the fury of the barb'd rons Gaul,
 And waiting Time, which has the rest o'erthrown,
 Amidst our house's ruins I remain,
 Single, unprop'd and nodding to my fall.
